WILL VOTE ON BAND JUNE 25

COUNCIL SETS DATE FOR SPECIAL ELECTION.

1-MILL TAX PROPOSED

Free Public Concerts Would Be Given Under Council's Direction.—Bowling Licensed.

June 25 was the day fixed by an ordinance introduced at the city council meeting last night for the special band tax election. The ordinance, which is mandatory upon petition of 10 per cent of the voters of the city, will be passed within seven days and becomes effective ten days later.

The ordinance designated polling places and named the judges for the special election. The qualified voters of the city will pass upon the proposal of a 1 mill levy against taxable property in the city for the purpose of creating a band fund.

Only a majority vote is necessary for the proposition to carry, the ordinance states. The money to be derived from the 1 mill levy on each dollar of taxable property will be used by the city council to employ a band to furnish free concerts, play on appropriate occasions and when deemed necessary by the council, according to the ordinance.

Would Raise $5,463.

A 1 mill levy will raise $5,463.52 for band purposes, as the 1927 assessed valuation of the city was $5,463,528.

The ordinance reads in part:

"There shall be had and held in and for the city of Maryville a special election on the 25th day of June, 1928, to vote on the proposition to authorize, empower and direct the council of the city to levy and collect upon and against all the taxable property in said city a special tax of 1 mill on each dollar of the assessed valuation of said property, beginning with the year 1928, and continuing thereafter according to law, and said funds when collected to be used for the purpose of creating a 'band fund' to be expended by the city council to employ a municipal band for said city, to furnish free band concerts in the city and equivalent musical service on occasions of public importance as may be provided and required by the council.

"In event a majority of the votes cast at said special election by qualified voters of said city shall be in favor of said tax, then the council shall levy and collect said special tax to the amount aforesaid, provide a special fund to be known as 'band fund,' employ a municipal band for the purposes set forth and under such regulations and provision as may now or hereafter provided by ordinance."

The Polling Places.

The polling places and judges were designated by the ordinance as follows:

First ward: Fire station, 413 North Market street; judges, Ed Hamlin, A. L. Nash, Mrs. Fern Heifner, and Miss Rose Schumacher.

Second ward: Angel building, 408 North Buchanan street; judges, Miss Bertha Anderson, Mrs. Virginia Crull, Charles Eckert, Hal Hooker.

Third ward: Arnold-Strong motor company, 118 West Second street; judges, Mrs. Cora L. Baker, George Herren, Miss Nettie Beaver and Sherman Montgomery.

Fourth ward: James Smith plumbing shop, 204 East Third street; judges Frank Wallace, Mrs. Zema Cornell, Mike Sturm, Mrs. Docia Howland.

The council granted T. H. Millikan Dale Castillo and Art Garten, proprietors of the G. M. C. bowling alley, a license to operate the bowling alley for a period of three months. The license fee for this period is $37.50.

A DECREASE IN CHILDREN

FEWER OF SCHOOL AGE THAN TEN YEARS AGO.

1309 IN ENUMERATION

Annual Count Shows, However, an Increase of 12 Over a Year Ago.—Girls in Majority.

The school enumeration for the Maryville Independent school district, taken by John P. Curfman, was filed with Fred Wright, county clerk, late yesterdaly.

It revealed that there were 1,309 children of school age in the district, compared to 1,465 in 1918, when the school enumeration was taken by E. P. Hamlin.

However, there are more children of school age in the district now than a year ago, Mr. Curfman's figures showed. The total enumeration in 1927 was 1,297.

The enumeration this year shows that there are more girls of school age—6 to 20 years—than there are boys. This was also true last year. The 1928 enumeration shows 664 white females compared to 652 last year. The number of males of school age is 623, the same as last year. The enumeration list shows fourteen colored females this year, compared to thirteen last year, and only eight colored boys of school age, one less than last year.

The decrease in white children of school age since 1918 is marked. In 1918 there were 690 white males and 736 white females of school age, the enumeration list showed, making a total of 1,426 white children of school age in the Maryville district.

Gains in Experience at Talley Contest

Paschal Monk Not One of First Eight But Learned Much in Scholarship Competition, He Says.

Paschal Monk, State Teachers College student, who was entered in the Marion Talley scholarship voice contest held at Kansas City yesterday, returned to Maryville last night, having gained little in material reward but much in experience, as he summed up his trip.

The contest was won by Carl Dews baritone from Topeka, Kan., who sang the aria, "Credo" from "Otello."

Of forty-two competitors, eight were recalled to sing again before the judges for first award. Mr. Monk has not heard from the judges in regard to his placement, although he was not one of the first eight. He expects to learn this information, with criticisms, later. His selection was the prologue from "Pagliacci," by Leoncavallo. Mr. Monk is known in Maryville for his close harmony and rich baritone voice.

Miss Christine Goff, a graduate of the State Teachers College here, was another entrant in the contest. She now makes her home in Kansas City and is studying music there.

Mr. Monk stated that the talent as a whole was above par, averaging much better than in the two previous years of the scholarship offer by Miss Talley.

Mr. Monk is a junior at the college and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Monk of Burlington Junction.

STATE SENATOR FILES FOR DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

SERVING FIRST TERM

Maryville Attorney Has Attained Prominence Among Colleagues.—On Revision Commission.

Senator M. E. Ford today announced that he had filed his declaration as a candidate for the nomination on the Democratic ticket for state senator from the first district, which comprises Nodaway, Atchison, Gentry and Worth counties.

Senator Ford, who was elected for the first time to the upper house of the Missouri General Assembly in 1924, stated he mailed his declaration to the secretary of state yesterday.

Although he is just completing his first term, Senator Ford has become prominent in the Missouri Senate and was named on the statute revision commission, which was created under a special law at the last session. He was one of three senators appointed to the commission. Three members of the house of representatives are on the commission also.

Mr. Ford has given considerable of his time to the revision of the state statutes. This commission will make a report in December, but Senator Ford was unable to say whether the commission will have completed its work by that time.

Mr. Ford also served as chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments and was a member of the committees on criminal jurisprudence, ways and means, penal institutions, and University, teachers colleges, School of Mines and agricultural college.

Mr. Ford is a native Nodaway countian. He was born about seven miles northwest of here and has practiced law in Maryville, where he is associated with G. P. Wright, the present prosecuting attorney.

St. Johns, N. F., May 16.—The two United States army amphibian planes on the way to rescue the German transatlantic airplane Bremen at Greenly Island, arrived at St. George's, their destination, at 12:30 p. m., E. S. T. today.

The weather was clear and ideal for flying.

The planes left Pictou, N. S. this morning after being delayed by bad weather.

The fliers are now but 225 miles from Greenly Island at the Northern tip of Newfoundland. They left Pictou, N. S., at 10:15 a. m.

INCH OF RAIN IN 15 MINUTES FALLS HERE

Gutters and Sewers Taxed to Capacity Late Yesterday—Total Is 1.22 Inches.

A heavy rain visited Maryville about 6:30 o'clock last night and continued for fifteen minutes. J. R. Brink, official weather observer, reported that one inch of rain fell in the fifteen minutes. The total precipitation yesterday was 1.22 inches.

Although the gutters and storm sewers were taxed to capacity in carrying off the deluge of water, no complaints of washouts reached the city hall today, Mayor W. O. Garrett said.

Some of the downtown paved streets were nearly curb full when the heavy rain fell and the small gullies throughout the town were almost overflowing.

AIR-RAIL PLAN IS EXTENSIVE

MOST OF PRINCIPAL CITIES IN U. S. TO BE REACHED.

FORD MAKING PLANES

Twenty Large Ships Being Built for Unnamed Customer.—Scheduled Speed 90 Miles an Hour.

New York, May 16.—Detailed plans of the Transcontinental Air Transport Inc., revealed today that the new air and rail system will be extended to include most of the principal cities of the United States. Further plans of the new company, which will cut travel time between the Atlantic and Pacific to forty-eight hours, were announced by C. M. Keys, president of the new company and head of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation.

William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Co., will be a member of the board of directors of the corporation, Keys said. Mayo is in charge of design and building of the Ford tri-motored transport planes. No official of the Ford company would confirm the report that the Detroit plant is to supply planes for the transcontinental system, but it is known that the plant was at work on twenty large planes for an unnamed customer.

Co-Operation Necessary.

Another director will be Col. Paul Henderson, former assistant Postmaster-General, president of the National Air Transport, which operates the eastern division of the Chicago-Dallas Trans-Continental Air Mail.

Co-operation with railroads in order to realize full possibilities of the new system is necessary, sponsors said. The Pennsylvania and Santa Fe Railroad will play an important role in the new company.

The New York to Los Angeles route, which will be the first put in operation—probably within the next six or seven months—was chosen because there would be no night flying involved and the country over which day flights would be made is favorable, according to Keys.

Modern tri-motored planes carrying 14 passengers each and with a scheduled flying speed of 90 miles an hour, will be used, Keys said. The planes have a maximum speed of 120 miles an hour and the scheduled speed will allow for any delays. The planes will be equipped with every known safety device.

Rates to Be "Reasonable."

Rates will be a reasonable advance over railroad rates, he said, and light luggage will be carried on the planes.

"Among the other routes now in contemplation is a branch from Chicago to the Twin Cities, and other western cities will be added evenutally by airplane or railroad connections," Keys added. "St. Louis and Kansas City will be on the transcontinental route. Principal landing fields will be maintained near Columbus, Ohio, and in New Mexico. The company plans to draw travel from north and south to the main cross-country route. Present plans are for year-round service."

Urge "Dry" Man at South Carolina Meet

Will Work at Democrat State Convention to Have Houston Delegation Pledged.

Columbia, S. C., May 16.—The State Democratic convention here today will bring a strenuous effort of "dry" leaders to have the delegation of 18 to the Houston convention pledged to oppose wet presidential candidates.

Pronounced anti-Smith feeling was evident at county conventions. Today's meeting will be watched closely by Dixie leaders anxious to stay the strength of the New York Governor.

United States Senator Cole Blease was expected to offer a resolution placing the delegation on record as favoring a "dry" presidential candidate but ready to support the party candidate, whoever he is.

ITALIA INTO UNEXPLORED POLAR LAND

Flies Through Thick Fog Bank—Ice Crust Forms on Hulk of Dirigible.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, May 16. —Gen. Umberto Nobile intends to prolong the dirigible Italia's present Polar cruise over Lenin's Island and thence try to fly to Cilles Land, he radioed today.

The Italia, Nobile added, passed Rudolph II Land shortly after 9 a. m. She was encountering strong head winds, he said, but was making satisfactory progress with excellent visibility.

Kings Bay, May 16.—General Umberto Nobile radioed at 9 a. m. today that his polar dirigible Italia was continuing along the same course that she pursued on her last flight.

Previously he had reported arriving over Cape Germaina, Franz Josef Land at 5:10 a. m.

"We flew through a thick fog bank yesterday," Nobile's message added. "The visibility is variable now. We are flying against a headwind and the ship is rolling. However, Tromsoe (the meteorological station), predicts an improvement in the weather.

"The weight of an ice crust forming on the hulk and metal parts of the ship might become serious, but the Italia is safer in the air than in her hangar at Spitzenbergen."

The last sentence referred to a recent storm, which damaged both the hangar and the airship.

"Now that my pledge to bring the Italia to the unexplored polar regions has been fulfilled, I send Your Excellency devout greetings from myself and the entire crew."

'HEART' IS TAKEN OUT

Amendment Prevents U. S. From Making Finished Fertilizer—Goes to Conference.

Washington, May 16.—The Morin bill creating a government corporation for operation of Muscle Shoals was passed today by the House.

The House adopted amendments preventing the government from manufacturing finished fertilizer. Sponsors of the legislation said this took the "heart" from the bill. The amendments, by Representative McMillan, Democrat of South Carolina, would permit manufacture of nitrogen, a fertilizer raw product.

The measure goes to conference for adjustment of differences between it and the Norris resolution approved by the Senate. The bill passed on a standing vote, 251 to 165.

The House rejected a substitute bill offered by Representative Snell, Republican of New York.

Agriculture Bill Signed.

Washington, May 16.—President Coolidge today signed the Agriculture Department appropriation bill, carrying $139,000,000.

New York, May 16.—The stock exchange set a new record for volume of sales today when more than 4,800,000 shares changed hands.

The previous record, set last March 30, was 4,759,300.

The tickers were more than an hour and a quarter behind the trading. In the final hour alone, more than 1,500,000 shares were dealt in, a new record for one hour.

It was the 24th day on which trading exceeded four million shares.

The trading was accompanied by a sharp decline in the whole general list of stocks, some leaders, notably radio corporation of America, which lost 10 points and closed at 194.

GIFT TO AL, NOT A LOAN

KENNY EXPECTS NONE OF $70,000 BACK, HE SAYS.

NO STATE CONTRACTS

Both Contractor and Shipbuilder Say Smith Can Have More.—Hoover Money in South.

Washington, May 16.—William F. Kenny, New York contractor, told the Senate campaign investigating committee today the entire $70,000 he gave to the Governor Alfred E. Smith campaign chest was a donation. He said he did not understand that $50,000 of it was a loan, as George R. Van Namee, Smith's New York manager testified.

Kenney's surprising testimony came after the committee had spent a long time cross-examining Rush L. Holland, a former assistant Attorney-General in the Daugherty regime, about $10,400 he had received for use in the Hoover campaign in the south.

William Todd, shipbuilder, and Smith contributor, explained he admired Smith greatly. He had made a $5,000 contribution. He had had minor New York City, but no New York state, contracts, he said, but would have preferred not to receive them.

Can Have All He Wants.

Kenny and Todd both told the committee they hoped to make further contributions, adding that Smith could have as much of their money as he wanted.

Kenny said his companies never had a state contract from the Smith administration or any other.

Kenny said in the last eleven years he had received contracts from the New York City fire department, amounting to $242,407.

"From my standpoint all my advances were contributions," Kenny said. "They told me they needed some money and I gave it to them."

"Was anything said to you by Van Namee about $50,000 of it being a loan?"

"No."

Never a State Job.

"Have you had any contracts with the state?"

"Never had a state job."

"What are your companies?"

"The William F. Kenny Company and the Hickey Contracting Company."

"Do you intend to give any more money to the Smith campaign?"

"I do."

"To what extent?"

"To any extent they want. Limited of course by my ability to pay."

"Did you talk to Governor Smith about your contribution?"

"He didn't even know I had contributed it before Van Namee (CQ) went before this committee."

"Have you discussed it with since?"

"No there was no occasion to do so."

"Have you any other interests in New York?"

"I have a little stock in the Third Avenue railroad."

"The committee has heard you have offered your private railroad car to the governor to campaign in. Is that true?"

"Be tickled to death to do so."

"Have you had any understanding about that with Governor Smith?"

"No. That's only my feeling in the premises."

Banker Gives $50,000.

Kenny said he had contributed to Smith's gubernatorial campaigns but never as much as $70,000. He said he knew nothing of any national organization for Smith.

Kenny was excused and James J. Riordan, head of the New York Commercial Bank and Trust Co., was called. He said he had given $50,000 in cash from his personal funds to Van Namee. The payment was made at Smith headquarters.

"Do you intend to make any further contribution?"

"I will give more if they need it."

"Do you have any contractural relations with the state government?"

"No. Only we sell documentary stamps."

"Any other relations?"

"Only that we have charter from the state."

Riordan said he had a trucking business of which Smith was chairman of the board during two years he was not governor.

Another Banker Testifies.

Herbert Lehman, New York investment banker, was called. He named seven large corporations in which he was a director. They included the Studebaker Corporation; the Fidelity Trust Co.; Chelsea Wheel Corporation; Abrahams and Straus; County Trust Co., of New York; Pierce Petroleum

Methodist Delegate Leads in a Dry Raid

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—A delegate to the Methodist Episcopal conference here, F. A. Hazeltine of South Bend, Wash., federal prohibition officer in his own state, played the leading role in a raid here.

Local officers told Hazeltine of a soft drink parlor against which they had been seeking to obtain evidence for some time, without success. Hazeltine volunteered to get the evidence and did so by becoming friendly with the bartender. After pretending to drink alcohol from a pint bottle that contained water, the bartender was led to believe Hazeltine was a "regular guy" and he sold him a "whiskey straight."

Later Hazeltine returned to the place with several prohibition officers, who purchased drinks with marked bills. The raid followed and Hazeltine received the plaudits of his fellow officers for the part he played in outwitting the bartender.

Two street cars were damaged when struck by lightning. No one was injured.

HOME RULE IN M. E. CHURCH

FOREIGN GROUPS GIVEN RIGHT TO PICK OWN BISHOPS.

WORLD CHURCH LIKELY

Action of M. E. Conference Considered Second in Importance Only to Founding in U. S.

Kansas City, Mo., May 16.—The Methodist Episcopal Church made history here today when delegates to the general quadrennial conference voted almost unanimously to grant central conferences in foreign countries the right to elect their own bishops.

Granting of home rule to the foreign groups was regarded as a definite step toward the organization of a Methodist World Church to supercede the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States.

Many of church leaders said today's action of the conference was second in importance only to John Wesley's founding of the Methodist Church in the United States two centuries ago. The vote on home rule government for central conferences in foreign countries came after a five-hour debate on the question of adoption of the report of the committee of twenty-five on central conferences.

Favored by Committee.

The committee's report advocated adoption of constitutional amendments to allow central conferences to elect their bishops.

The measure now must receive a two-thirds vote of the 160 or more annual and lay electoral conferences which meet in 1929 before it can be put into effect. If passed by these conferences it will be declared effective by the 1932 general quadrennial conference.

Debate on the home rule question started yesterday and was marked by impassioned oratory in which Asiatic delegates pleaded for its adoption while negro members of the conference fought against it. The negro group asserted the plan would constitute an attack on minority rights in the church.

Might Lead to Negro Conferences.

Negro delegates believed organization of independent conferences for national or racial groups might lead to negroes in the United States forming their own central conference instead of participating in the regular annual conferences of the church.

The section of the special committee's report around which debate centered provided that annual conferences, missionary conferences and bishops shall be grouped into central conferences in such manner as the general conference shall determine and shall have such powers as the general conference shall prescribe.

One Woman Killed in Kansas Tornado

Twister Dips Down on White Cloud, on Missouri River.—Several Others Injured.

Hiawatha, Kan., May 16.—One woman was killed and several other persons, including four children, were injured when a tornado dipped down on White Cloud, Kan., a small town on the Missouri river northeast of here.

Mrs. Ed Cox was killed when the wind picked up her home and carried it into the Missouri river, according to reports. Four small children of Mrs. Cox and a sister, Mrs. Charley Cash, were injured, the latter seriously.

The tornado struck the west side of town late yesterday and swept a path through the business section, demolishing buildings and taking telephone poles and lines with it. The Cox home was directly in the path of the twister as it swept past the town and disappeared over the river.

Extent of damage could not be learned because of demoralized telephone service. More than two inches of rain fell, making highways almost impassable.

Hits at Raymore, Mo.

Belton, Mo., May 16.—Windows were broken, small buildings were overturned and trees were uprooted when a tornado struck Raymore near here.

None of Raymore's 300 residents was reported injured.

Bremen Crew Turns Back Toward East

Transatlantic Fliers Leave a Rousing Reception at St. Louis and Go to Detroit.

St. Louis, May 16.—Headed for Detroit, with a stopover at Indianapolis for fuel, the crew of the transatlantic plane, Bremen, bade farewell to St. Louis today and took off from Lambert-St. Louis flying field at 12:05 p. m.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—Turning eastward in their triumphal tour of America, the Bremen transatlantic fliers today were to leave for Detroit with the welcome of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's home port literally ringing in their ears.

The two-day visit of Baron von Huenefeld, Major Fitzmaurice and Captain Koehl came to a brilliant climax last night with a banquet tendered by the Chamber of Commerce. More than 150,000 St. Louisians, many of them Germans, had cheered them during a municipal parade yesterday.

An aerial bond between the two cities which conquered the Atlantic was sealed by the fliers in brief notes written at city hall immediately after Mayor Victor J. Miller presented them with foot-long heavy keys.

"The Three Musketeers see in their welcome the true Spirit of St. Louis," Fitzmaurice wrote. "Cheerio and good luck."

Von Huenefeld, a bachelor, wrote:

"The people of St. Louis are wonderful. The most wonderful are the beautiful women in this sympathetic city."

Koehl, the stout pilot, wrote:

"Sincere thanks for the wonderful reception of St. Louis—the birthplace of the Spirit of St. Louis and the home of the great Lindbergh."

A high-light in the reception here was participation of the fliers in ground-breaking ceremonies at the new German House. Each turned a spade of earth, and in a brief speech emphasized international good-will.

A hole-in-one is luck, of course, but after all, you'll have to admit, according to the player, that he was shooting right for the pin.

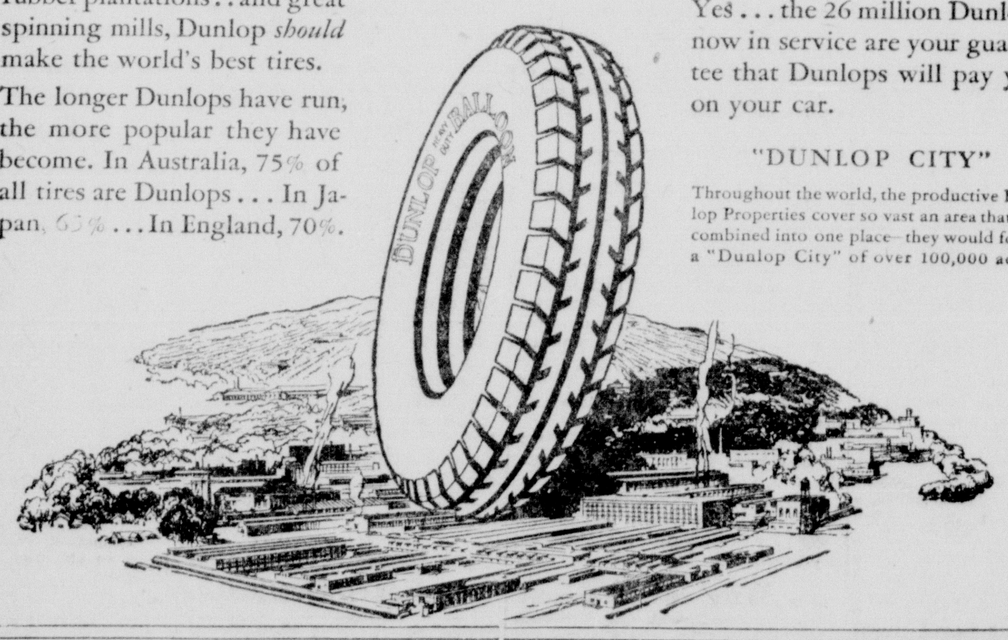
26 MILLION DUNLOPS

"WHAT OF IT?... What does that mean to my car?"

Simply this: The 26 million Dunlops now running are your guarantee that Dunlops will pay you on your car.

With 45,000 craftsmen . . . 40 years' experience . . . $195,000,000 resources . . . vast rubber plantations . . and great spinning mills, Dunlop should make the world's best tires.

The longer Dunlops have run, the more popular they have become. In Australia, 75% of all tires are Dunlops . . . In Japan, 65% . . . In England, 70%.



The ninth and greatest of all Dunlop plants was built at Buffalo, U. S. A. five years ago. Since then, Dunlop has climbed from 89th place to an undisputed position among America's leading tire-manufacturers. In 1927, American dealers sold 41% more Dunlop tires than in 1926.

Yes . . . the 26 million Dunlops now in service are your guarantee that Dunlops will pay you on your car.

Coolidge Would Put Art in Daily Routine

Says in Address Before Federation That the Beautiful Would Drive Out Evil.

Washington, May 16. — President Coolidge stressed the need of injecting art into the daily routine of the American people in an address here today before the joint assembly of the American federation of arts and the American association of museums.

"It is especially the practical side of art that requires more emphasis," the President said.

"We need to put more effect into translating art into the daily life of the people. If we could surround ourselves with forms of beauty, the evil things of life would tend to disappear and our moral standards would be raised."

Contact with the truth, he said induced a closer harmony with the infinite. He had pointed out previously that the nation had not been neglectful of the higher things of life in development of its material resources.

Art as exemplified by the city plan commissions was gradually eradicating the squalor of the slums from major communities, the President said.

Referring to the liberal means by which the average person may cultivate a spirit of aestheticism, and forecasting the ultimate goal of these art impulses, President Coolidge said:

Co., and Franklin Simons Co. He said he contributed $10,000 by check to Van Namee.

"Do you expect to contribute more?"

"Not to the pre-convention campaign. I expect to contribute to his election campaign after he is nominated."

"Have you made any other contributions?"

"Yes, I gave $2,000 to the Western States headquarters—to Fred W. Johnson, Rock Springs, Wyo."

$20,000 to Other Campaigns.

Lehman said he had previously contributed about $20,000 to Smith's several gubernatorial campaigns.

"Do any of the corporations in which you are interested have any relations with the city or state?"

"None—so far as I know."

Lehman said he first saw Johnson in Denver in July and was informed there was a spontaneous movement in the West for Smith.

In October Johnson went to New York and Lehman said he advanced the $2,000.

The additional contribution would make the total Smith contribution $105,210 with disbursements of $94,090.28, including a total of $9,000 by Johnson in the Western states.

Gave $30,000 to Pay Deficit.

Kenny was recalled. He said he had contributed $25,000 or $30,000 to Smith's various campaigns from assemblyman to governor. He also said he had given $30,000 to pay off the Democratic deficit.

"Jesse Jones, of Houston, came to me and told me he would like me to see some of Governor Smith's friends help take up that deficit. I answered as one of Governor Smith's friends," Kenny said.

The committee then adjourned until 2:30 p. m.

Hoover Work in South.

Holland said he had been working for Hoover in southern states, including Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and North Carolina. He had visited only Arkansas, Louisiana and Florida, handling other states by mail.

"Have you used any money?" Chairman Steiwer asked.

"I have," Holland replied.

"Where did you get it?"

From C. H. Huston and Ferry Heath. All I got from Heath has been returned, save $400."

"Have you any understanding that you will get any further money?"

"No. My activities are about at an end. I have no outstanding promises to anyone."

Only $8,200 of the fund has been spent in the states," George said.

Holland said he had made the following disbursements:

$2,000 to Perry Howard, Republican national committeeman in Mississippi, $2,200 to Ben Davis, Republican national committeeman; $1,000 to Oliver D. Street, Republican national committeeman, Alabama; $3,000 in Florida, including $2,500 to the Protective Tariff League and $500 to Glenn B. Skipper, Miami.

$200 a Week for Headquarters.

Holland also said he had paid Perry Howard of Mississippi at the rate of $200 a week since January to maintain a headquarters here. Holland said his own expenses would be $1,200 to $1,500 which may not be repaid.

Huston, from whom he received $10,000, is former assistant secretary of commerce, Heath, who gave $40, is unofficial treasurer of the Washington headquarters. These funds have not been previously accounted for by Hoover headquarters, Huston having raised his money individually.

Holland's testimony would bring the total known expense of the Hoover campaign to $251,674.

He said Howard had made a trip to Kansas City. The additional $200 given Ben Davis of Georgia was for two trips to Washington, he added.

Holland denied Secretary of Interior Work had drawn him into the campaign. He said Work was "interested" but not "active" in the campaign.

Advances Repaid.

Holland later explained he had received more than $400 from Heath but had repaid from Huston's advances all but $400 which Heath gave him.

"Didn't Heath confer with you when he advanced the money?"

"He didn't consult with me."

Huston gave him advances in small amounts beginning with $500 early in January, Holland said.

"I think all the money I paid was by cash except the $2,500 given to the Florida Protective Tariff League," Holland said. "I wired them that."

"What was the rush about getting it down there?" Senator Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, asked.

"No rush. The cost of wiring it was practically nothing and they wanted the money."

Sweet Labor

I want to rejoice, for it's never my choice to look on the dark side of life; I want to be glad, as I was when a lad, before all this hubbub was rife. I like a good neighbor, yet what I call labor is just having nothing to do; for life is a drag when you act like a Vag, as though a blank number you drew.

Cheer up, gentle folks, after all of our jokes, the very worst thing you can know is to sit around whining, alas, and repining to some far off station to go. The flowers at your feet are abundant and sweet: Plant plenty of old fashioned flowers, that will take you right back on life's zigzagging track, when you live over Childhood's sweet hours. Then, friend of mine, hearken: The burdens of life, are the things we are dreading to do. But the tasks you have done at the setting of sun are the nearest and dearest to you.

Let lazy louts loiter and toy with life's days, thinking this all life's sweetness to sup. Yet at last they must know they must reap as they sow and drain but the dregs from the cup.

J. F. Hull Speaker at Hi-Y Graduation

Happiness Not in a Single Achievement, Postmaster Says.—Faith Most Needed.

J. F. Hull, Maryville postmaster, addressed the six graduates of the Hi-Y Club of the Maryville high school this morning, together with the other members of the organization. Mr. Hull declared that happiness in life comes not from an attainment of a goal and then quitting altogether, but in stepping from one attainment to another.

"The thing, it seems to me, we need most of all is a faith that life is worthwhile," Mr. Hull told the high school boys.

"I believe the builder is the important man in the life of our country. Doing things makes a happier and fuller life."

Mr. Hull declared that in this "golden age" America is a "nation among nations and opportunities to do big things are afforded on every hand.

"This is a better age in which to live. You have a better base on which to work, and the general plane of life has been raised so more people are having opportunities to enjoy life.

The speaker urged that each boy stand actively for things, rather than against things.

"I presume you young men have thought of going ahead in education. I hope it is your ambition," he added.

Mr. Hull cited the time when a graduate of a high school was considered a finished man and ready to enter into business life, but in this age a high school graduate has higher education to obtain.

In presenting a copy of the New Testament to each of the graduates Herbert R. Dieterich, principal of the school, said: "Between the two covers of this book there is more real truth than any other volume I know of."

L. E. Ziegler presented the diplomas. "Success in life lies in how we approach problems and made decisions," he said in his presentation.

"The diploma which you will receive Friday night signifies completion of a course of studies. The diploma you receive this morning signifies the beginning of a life course."

The Rev. W. S. Woodhull was in charge of the devotions.

Give Adolph Menjou and Bride Send-Off

Movie Stars Leave Paris for London—Will Make Study of English Country Life.

Paris, May 16.—A send-off combining the elements of a mob scene and a movie jazz party was given Adolphe Menjou and Catherine Carver, American film stars, after their marriage here today.

Menjou, the idol of French movie fans, and Miss Carver were married at the city hall of the 16th Paris district. After changing into traveling clothes, they went to the grimy dismal Gare du Nord station to leave for London.

A tremendous crowd was awaiting them. As the bride and bridegroom started to enter the Golden Arrow Express for the French coast, an American jazz band on the platform got into action, photographers jumped onto the tops of nearby trains to record the departure, and porters and trainmen left their jobs to join the crowd.

Menjou and Miss Carver, after the culmination of their romance that began on the motion picture lots at Hallywood, planned to spend two days in London and later to make a motor tour through England, studying country life. Before their return to the United States, they intend to go to Italy.

RADIUM SUITS LONG DELAYED

ATTORNEY FOR CORPORATION DENIES IT IS RESPONSIBLE.

NEXT HEARING MAY 22

Five Girls Said to Be Dying Gradually Will Know Then Whether Case Can Be Tried.

Orange, N. J., May 16.—E. A. Markley, attorney for the United States Radium Corporation, protested today against the implication that his client is responsible for the legal delays in the case of five former women employes who are dying of radium poisoning.

A year ago this month the women filed a joint suit seeking $250,000 each from the radium corporation to ease the last days of their lives. Doctors had told them that the radium which they had taken into their bodies while painting watch dials soon would prove fatal.

Markley said that the numerous postponements which have prevented the women from receiving the protection of the law were not sought by the company, "which has done everything possible to expedite justice."

Limitations Statute Invoked.

After the filing of the original suit a year ago counsel for the radium corporation moved that it be thrown out of court on the grounds that New Jersey's two-year statute of limitations had expired. The radium poisoning, which results in a slow and painful undeath, had been contracted between 1917 and 1920 but was not diagnosed until 1927.

On the ground that his clients did not know until seven years later that they were doomed to die, Raymond Berry, their attorney, asked the court of chancery for an order restraining the company from defending itself with the statute of limitations. Ordinarily, according to New Jersey court records, such cases are given almost immediate hearings.

The bill for an injunction was filed July 19, 1927. Hearing was set for January 12, 1928. On that date postponement was taken until April 2, because of the inability of several defense witnesses to appear. Next came an adjournment until April 25 for the same reason.

Evidence Presented.

On the last date all evidence for the five women was presented. Physicians testified that medical science knew no cure for their malady. Presentation of evidence was concluded on April 27 and counsel for the company then asked for another postponement so they would have time to prepare an answer.

The chancery court docket, crowded with other cases, showed that the nearest open date for another hearing was Sept. 24—five months later.

Chancellor Backes told Berry that if he could obtain in writing the consent of the attorneys in other cases, another hearing on the application for an injunction could be held May 22. That was done and the next hearing is now set for next Tuesday.

Markley, the company attorney, said the delays were the natural result of the present court system.

Many Cases Waiting.

"Many cases in which the defendant lost a leg or an arm or in some cases both, have been waiting on the docket for two or three years," Markley said.

"The case of these girls is important and if the plaintiffs' counsel can get it moved up, I will co-operate.

"I do believe, however, that the case is being over-estimated. The girls have lived seven years after they stopped working in the radium plant. I doubt very much that they will die within several months."

The litigation now pending, however, deals merely with the injunction by which the damage suit may get into court. After that the damage action itself must be tried on its own merits. One doctor has testified that he believes not one of the poisoned girls will live out the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boedecker of Parnell visited Mrs. Boedecker's brother who is confined in the hospital in St. Joseph last Sunday.

Paul Diss, Navy Radio Operator, Writes Parents From Honolulu

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diss, 710 North Main street, have received two letters from their son, Paul, a radio operator on the S. S. California, who is now at Honolulu, Hawaii.

He has written concerning his trip to Honolulu and something about the climate on the Islands. His letters follows:

At Sea, April 24, 1928.
on the U. S. S. California.

Dear Folks: : : : :

Well, here we are way out here at sea, and at "war." We have managed to keep clear of the enemy so far, and they are still looking for us. We will no doubt get into Honolulu about the twenty-eighth. So far, we have had absolutely nothing to do, as the radio has been kept quiet so they (the enemy) could not hear us. All we have to do is keep awake while we are on watch.

Right now I think we are somewhere south of Honolulu, about 500 miles. We went down here so we could elude the enemy.

The weather sure is fine now. Nice and sunny and warm. We are in white now. These clothes sure feel fine but they get dirty so quick. The boy just brought up some coffee so I guess I will take a little to keep awake.

It is only 4 a. m. here now but it is 8 o'clock where you are. Seems strange. Well, I must close now. Am feeling fine and getting sun burned. Will have more to write after I get to Honolulu.

PAUL.

Army and Navy Y. M. C. A.
Honolulu, May 1, 1928.

Dear Folks:

Here I am in Honolulu. Hawaii at last, and it is quite a place. This makes my second trip ashore, but have no money right now so can't do much.

I am to have some fun later on, though. Yesterday the boy I stayed with in Pedro and I came ashore, mostly to swim. For 20 cents we had a keen swim, shower, locker and suit. Not much of a suit, but all that was necessary, as the pool was at the "Y" and was in the patio. The water was cool and sure felt keen, as it was hot. After the swim we took a walk down through the main part of town, through the Jap district and past the government buildings. We are going around more later and take some pictures.

We sure have it easy here. We are tied up to the dock so have a telephone on board. It is up on the bridge. We fellows who were at Frona Field at Pedro take care of it six hours on and twenty-four off. When the fleet leaves for maneuvers we will put up a station on the dock and stay until they return. That will give us a chance to see the town without the fleet being in.

I am going to buy some things while here and have all I can sent home. Save me carrying it. Unpack them and show them if you want to, and I will tell you all about them later.

The climate sure is funny here. It is sunny most of the time but every now and then it sprinkles. It does not last long, though, and you never mind it. We wear the kind of white I had home with me. I received your letter mailed the nineteenth today. This letter will leave here tomorrow sometime. About every three days is the way it runs. Am feeling fine and am nice and brown.

ISO-VIS
MOTOR OIL
HEAVY
NOW YOU CAN BUY A CONSTANT VISCOSITY MOTOR OIL—ISO-VIS!
Troubles aren't what they used to be in motoring! Thanks to Iso-Vis. In the old days there was one lubrication trouble that was so common that people thought it had to be. They took it for granted and made the best of it. Of course—they said—there is no way to overcome dilution in the crank case. A motor oil that is light enough to give easy starting will thin out and fail to lubricate the engine under working conditions. A motor oil that is heavy enough to give correct lubrication under working conditions will fail to give easy starting.
Compromise by buying a medium oil and the results will be a compromise—neither correct lubrication for easy starting nor for working conditions.
Satisfactory lubrication seemed impossible! But the engineering staff of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) went to work on it. At last they solved the dilution problem! They found that there is a definite ratio of dilution in the crankcase of every car. By combining a carefully refined diluent with a heavier oil they perfected a constant viscosity motor oil—Iso-Vis! No need to compromise now! You can buy a motor oil that permits easy starting and gives correct lubrication under working conditions. You can buy a motor oil that maintains a practically constant viscosity. You can buy satisfactory lubrication! Engineers praise Iso-Vis. Motorists are enthusiastic. It's the motor oil of today! When you've driven a car lubricated with Iso-Vis you'll understand its popularity. Be sure to try it!

How To Get Additional Trouble-Free Service From Your Old TIRES

It is not always necessary to buy new Tires to get satisfactory Tire Service, even if your old tires are pretty well worn.

Outside appearance of Tires is deceiving. Tires that look good on the tread for thousands of miles of service are often broken inside so they are constantly pinching Tubes and giving trouble.

Others on which the tread is worn smooth are perfectly good inside and can be made to give several thousand miles more service.

65 per cent of the flat tires on the road can be prevented. Only 35 per cent of the tires that go down on the road are caused by Nail or Tack Punctures. The other 65 per cent come from flaps rusted through and broken, enlarged nail holes, cold patches coming loose, short tacks, hedge thorns, glass, etc., that have entered the tread of the tire when comparatively new and are gradually forced into the fabric of the tires as the tread wears down.

This trouble can be prevented by removing and inspecting the tire.

IT COSTS ONLY $1.50

To have every tire on your car taken off the rim and thoroughly inspected—Rims cleaned and painted with Graphite to prevent rust and save your flaps.

GIRL ALONE

COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE

By ANNE AUSTIN, AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

The summer she is 16, SALLY FORD leaves the state orphanage, the only home she has known from the time she was four, to be "farmed out" to CLEM CARSON. At the Carson farm she meets DAVID NASH, athlete and student who is working on the farm during the summer. When Carson makes insulting remarks about David's friendship for Sally, David hits him a terrific blow.

David and Sally run away and join a carnival. David as cook's helper and Sally in a sideshow disguised as "Princess Lalla," crystal gazer.

NITA, a Hula dancer, becomes infatuated with David and shows her enmity for Sally. Sally tells MRS. BYBEE, wife of the show owner, that her mother once lived in Stanton, the town where the carnival is now showing. The manager's wife agrees to investigate and learn what she can. She returns from her trip to tell Sally that the woman, who left her at the orphanage was not her mother, but a maid hired to take the baby from the real mother in New York and disappear. As Sally leaves the Pullman after hearing this news from Mrs. Bybee, she sees Nita and believes she has been eavesdropping.

The last day in Stanton Sally is paralyzed with fear to learn that they are moving next day to the capital city, where she spent so many years in the orphans' home. Knowing that the police are after them for the Carson affair, she hurries to tell David they must run away again. He comforts her and tells her he will meet her that night after the train is loaded and they can talk their plight over then. She waits excitedly that night for his promised whistle beneath her car window. When it comes, she hurries happily toward the door, but she notices that Nita's berth is vacant.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 24

When Sally was awakened soon after dawn the next morning—Wednesday—by the shouts and songs of the "white hopes" unloading the carnival on the outskirts of the Capital City, the question which had insisted on worming its way through the heavenly joy of knowing that David loved her sprang instantly to the foreground of her mind; who was "Steve" with whom Nita had quarreled and bargained in the dark last night?

Sally and David had met or had had pointed out to them nearly every member of the show troupe, and there was no Steve among them. Of course Steve might be one of the roughneck white roustabouts. But a star performer, such as Nita considered herself, would hardly consort with such a man. The two classes—simply did not mix, except, in rare instances. David of course was different. Everyone connected with the carnival knew that he was a university student, working in the kitchen with Buck only because he was hiding from the police.

Then the thought of David dismissed Nita and her threats and her Steve. She crawled out of her berth, scurried to the women's dressing room and hastily applied her show make-up. Pop Bybee had summoned her to the privilege car on her return from her momentous walk with David the night before to caution her not to appear in Capital City, even in the dress or cook tent, without her "Princess Lalla" complexion, which she was to apply with exceeding care so that the disguise might be impenetrable.

Because the carnival lot selected by "the Kidder," Bop Bybee's advance man and "fixer," was in the heart of the city, and the railroad spur allotted to the show train on the outskirts of it, the cars would be abandoned by the carnival performers and employes, only Pop and Mrs. Bybee continuing to occupy their drawing room in one of the Pullmans. Sally, being told the arrangements, suspected that they stayed with the train to guard the safe under the green plush seat, the existence of which was known only to Sally. Mrs. Bybee took little interest in the carnival itself, caring only for the heaviness of the canvas money bags, which were brought to her at the end of each day's business.

It was still not seven o'clock when Sally joined the straggling procession of performers headed for the cook tent and dress tent, a quarter of a mile from the show train. She knew very little of the city herself, since the orphanage was situated on its own farm in a thinly settled suburb.

There was no glow of pride, no sense of home-coming as she trudged through the almost deserted streets, but every time she passed a policeman idly swinging his "billie" on a street corner she thanked Pop Bybee in her heart that he had cautioned her to don her disguise. For beyond a casually interested glance at her brown face and hands and her long, swinging braids of fine, lustrous black hair, the law did not seem to find her worthy of attention—certainly not of their official notice.

If only David could pass that cordon successfully! Probably he had gone to the carnival grounds. But Pop Bybee, true to his promise to protect the boy, had decreed that he should become private chef and waiter to himself and Mrs. Bybee, remaining cooped up all day in the privilege car of the show train.

Poor David! Dear David! Her heart ached passionately for his loneliness, for his magnificent body caged in a hot box of a kitchen, when it had been so gloriously free in fragrant, sun-kissed fields before she had met him.

Why, he might almost as well be in jail! And he had done nothing but protect a girl alone in the world from the cruel revenge of a man who had promised the state to treat her as his own daughter.

But even though her heart throbbed with pain for David she could not be wholly sad, for he loved her, wanted to marry her if she had let him give up his ambitions for her.

By the time she had finished breakfast in the cook tent the carnival was nearly ready for business. Even the Ferris wheel's glittering immensity was flung toward the sky, the basket seats hanging motionless in the still, hot air. Banners advertising real and spurious wonders were being tacked upon scarred booths, endowing them with glamor: "Bybee's Follies Girls—a dazzling beautiful chorus straight from Ziegfeld's Follies in New York—Six reasons why men leave home;" "Beautiful Babe, the Fattest Girl in the World! 620 pounds of rosy, cuddly girl flesh;" "The Palace of Wonders—Greatest Aggregation of Freaks in the World; also Princess Lalla, from Constantinople, crystal gazer, escaped member of the Sultan's Harem; Sees all, knows all—Past, Present and Future!"

Sally wandered along the midway, waving a small brown hand to Eddie Cobb, who was setting up his gambling wheel and gaudily dressed Kewpie dolls; exchanged predictions as to the day's business with two or three good-natured concessionaires; won a gold-toothed smile from the henna-haired girl who sold tickets for the tin rabbit races.

But she soon discovered that she was restless and lonely. The carnival had no glamor in these early hours. Without the crowds there was no glamor; the crowds themselves, though they did not suspect it, furnished the glamor with their naïve credulity, their laughter, their free and easy spending, their susceptibility as a relief from the monotony of their lives, to the very spirit of carnival for which this dragged old hoyden of a show was named.

"The kids would love it," Sally remembered suddenly, seeing in a painfully bright flash of memory the oldish, wistful little faces of Betsy and Thelma and Clara and all the other orphans who had until so recently—though it seemed years ago—been her only friends and playmates.

"I wonder if Eloise Durant is terribly unhappy, or if she has found some other 'big girl' to pet her. I wonder if Betsey and Thelma and Clara miss my play-acting."

"She smiled at the picture of herself draped in a sheet and crowned with her own braids—an ermine cloak and a crown of gold adorning a queen! "If they could see me now! Play-acting all the time, all dressed up in purple satin trousers and a green satin jacket all glittery with gold braid! I wish I had lots of money, so I could send them all tickets to come to the carnival," her thoughts ran on, as homesickness for the place she had hoped never to see again rose up, treacherous and unwelcome, to dim her joy in the glorious miracle of David's love.

"I suppose," she confessed forlornly, "that Mrs. Stone is the only mother I'll ever know. I wish I'd always been good, so she wouldn't believe the awful things Clem Carson said about me. She thinks I'm bad now—like my mother. I wonder," she was startled, her face flushing hotly under the brown powder, "if I am bad! They say it's in the blood. I'm crazy to have David kiss me, and—and he had to ask me not to. Maybe David is afraid I'm bad too, and will make him bad!"

The thought was unbearable. She wanted to fly to David, to search his gold-flecked hazel eyes again, to see if he had lost any of his "respect" for her. But she wouldn't kiss him! She'd bite her tongue out first! She was going to be good, good, prove to herself and David and all the world that "it" wasn't in her blood.

But all day, as the crowds gathered and money clinked merrily as it fell into cash boxes, she longed for David, lived over every kiss he had given her, from the brushing of his lips against the tip of her short nose to that dizzying wedding of lips when their love had been confessed in the moonlight.

And because she was amused with romance, thrilling with her own awakening to love, she made an almost riotous success of her crystal-gazing that first day of the carnival in Capital City. Girls laughed shyly and cuddled against their sweethearts provocatively as they left the Palace of Wonders, determined to make "Princess Lalla's" enchanting prophecies come true.

And she was so seductively beautiful herself, asparkle with love as she was, that three or four unaccompanied young men, seeking knowledge of past, present and future, suggested that she fulfill her own prophecies of a "zo beautiful brunette," until embarrassed though flattered, she took refuge in assuming that all gentlemen prefer blonds.

She did not see David that night after the carnival had shut up shop, for he could not leave the show train and only male performers, barkers and concessionaires were permitted to hang around the train. Sally understood from the midget, "Pitty Sing," that a nightly poker game attracted the men to the privilege car and that fist-fighting and even gun-play was no uncommon break in the monotony. Pop Bybee, genial until he heard the rattle of poker chips, was the heaviest winner as a rule, many a performer's salary finding its way back into the stateroom safe within a few hours after Mrs. Bybee had reluctantly handed it over.

By Thursday afternoon Sally's confidence in the efficacy of her disguise had mounted perilously high. The policemen who strolled grandly through the tents, proud of not having to pay for their fun, accorded her admiration or goodnatured skepticism but no suspicion.

The city papers had apparently lost interest in the hunt for David Nash, university student and farm hand, wanted for assault with intent to kill and for moral delinquency, and in Sally Ford, runaway ward of the state and juvenile paramour of the youthful would-be murderer, as the papers had previously described them.

At least there were no references to the case in either Wednesday's or Thursday's papers, and Sally's heart was light with gratitude to David and Pop Bybee for having persuaded her to stick with the carnival. It was rather fun to be on exhibition, reading the fortunes of the very policemen who had been given her description and orders to "get" her—much more fun than fleeing along state roads at night and hiding in cornfields by day, hungry, exhausted, afraid of her shadow and of the more menacing shadow of the state reformatory.

"Hel-lo! Hel-lo! Bless my soul! What have we he re? A real live Turkish harem beauty, as I live!"

Sally aroused herself from her apparently absorbed gazing into the "magic crystal" and looked with wide, startled eyes at the man who had addressed her in an accent which at once marked him as an easterner of culture. She had seen pictures of men dressed like that, but she had never quite believed in their authenticity.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, May 1.—General reports of rain over the wheat belt sent all futures sharply lower near the close on the board of trade today. Corn was off fractionally, but held up on the strength of the cash market while oats followed the other grains.

Closing prices:

Wheat: Off 2⅛c to 2¼c; corn down, ⅛c to ⅜c and oats unchanged to 1¼c off. Provisions were unchanged.

Trading was light in the wheat pit, and prices were easily influenced. Reports of general rains over the spring and winter wheat belts sent prices lower, but buying developed and a rally followed. The market was extremely nervous. Some Manitoba was reported sold for export. The cash market, with receipts of eight cars, was ½c lower.

Corn was active and strong on the strength of the cash market, and recovered from an early dip in spite of favorable weather reports. The cash market was 1c up with reports of heavy shipments east and light receipts here. Receipts were 41 cars.

There was no news of significance in oats, and prices changed were unimportant. The cash market, with receipts of 56 cars was ½c to 1c higher.

DERBY INFLUX IS UNDER WAY

THOUSANDS BEGIN PILGRIMAGE TO KENTUCKY RACE.

MAY BE 20 STARTERS

Reigh Count, Toro, Misstep, Anita Peabody and Strolling Player Among Favorites.

Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., May 16.—The greatest crowd in its long history probably will witness the 54th renewal of the Kentucky derby on Saturday.

Louisville has been filling up all week and each day brings its additional thousands. Up to 100,000 persons or more will be jammed around the downs to view Saturday's spectacle.

A field of probably twenty will go to the post, it appeared today. With the East predominating numerically. But the West will have the favorite in Reigh Count, the colt owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz, of chicago.

On the basis of his workouts and Monday's easy victory in the Mammoth Cave purse, sentiment continued so strong for Reigh Count today that odds as short as 8 to 5 seemed highly possible. Reigh Count may be coupled with his stable mate, Anita Peabody, last year's juvenile champion, and possibly with Otto Lehmann's Reigh Olga, which would tend to reduce the odds further. Although Anita Peabody is being pointed for the Kentucky Oaks, the filly's great condition may induce Mrs. Hertz to strengthen the stable's hand by putting her in the derby.

Edward B. McLean's Toro, after his spanking race behind Victorian in the Preakness, is the second choice so far. John Schorr, his trainer, is confident he will run a worthy race, and after rain began falling today, Schorr was jubilant. He thinks Toro will be returned the winner on a soft track.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson's strolling player still has a following. The imported colt presumably will be coupled again with the Audley Farm's Bobashela.

Misstep Another Hope.

The west has another hope in Leo Mark's Misstep, which worked a fast mile on a soft track yesterday in 1:39 and went a mile and a quarter in 2:06 4-5 pulled up. Whiskery's winning time in the derby last year was 2:06.

Other arrivals from the Preakness were Vito, Sortie, Don Q., Typhoon, Sun Beau, Petee Wrack and Distraction, all of which had light workouts yesterday and today.

Most of the western horse that were counted on to leng strength to its representation in the derby have proved disappointing in recent trials, including Dodgson, Jack Higgins, Martie Flynn and Lawley.

In addition to the horses named, those viewed as probable starters are Replevin, Colonel Shaw, Bar None, Cartago, Bonivan, Irish Pal and Wisk Arm.

Ruth Draws Further Ahead of 1927 Pace

At Present Rate, Babe Will Come Near 70 Homers This Season.—Nos. 10 and 11 Yesterday.

New York, May 16—Hitting his tenth and eleventh home runs of the season yesterday, Babe Ruth today was eight days ahead of his 1927 schedule.

Babe did not hit his eleventh home run until May 23 last season. Yesterday's homers came in his twenty-sixth game, while he did not get No. 11 last year until his 34th game.

At the present pace, Ruth would come near the 70 mark this season. He has hit five homers in the last seven games and at no time last year did he travel at the present pace.

A Respite in Hectic National League Race

Reds, Cubs and Giants Get Much Welcomed Rest Today.—Six Teams Struggling for Lead.

New York, May 16.—The topsy-turvy National League pennant race partially halts today to give three of the four leaders a momentary breathing spell.

With six teams struggling to get out in front few early season pennant races have provided more thrills than this year's National League race, which finds one team and then the other ahead.

The New York Giants have been tossed all the way from first to fourth place in three days. The Chicago Cubs have climbed from seventh place to a tie for the lead with the Cincinnati Reds in two weeks. After dropping all the way from first to sixth place, the Brooklyn Robins have started another ascent and are now in fifth place.

Only two games are scheduled today, the Robins meeting the Pirates at Pittsburgh and the Braves playing the Cardinals at St. Louis. The brief rest comes as a welcome relief to the players on the Reds, Cubs and Giants, who have been keyed up to a high-pitch during the last several days of the torpid drive.

For the Giants, it is a God-send. Without their manager and badly disorganized, the Giants will have a chance to gather themselves together before opening their fourth crucial series in the west at St. Louis Thursday.

Miss Collett Out of British Tourney

Defeat of American Star and Two Others Leaves Only One in Golf Event.

Hunstanton, Eng., May 16. — Miss Glenna Collett, American star, was eliminated from the British women's open golf championship today along with two of the three other American survivors.

Miss Collett was beaten three up and two to go by Miss M. Wragg, of Sheffield.

Miss Collett's defeat was a complete upset. She was expected to have a clear path up to the final and to meet there Miss Enid Wilson, strongest of the British women entered—as Miss Joyce Wethered and Miss Cecil Leitch, the leaders in women's golf here, were not entered.

Mrs. D. Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, last of the Americans, survived the fourth round, defeating Miss Aline Dobson of Brocton Hall, five up and three to play.

Miss Wragg holds the Yorkshire women's championship, which she has held four times since the World War.

She is small like Miss Collett. She wears spectacles while playing but these apparently constituted no handicap in the driving rain that a strong wind blew across the course in sheets.

Miss Collett was visibly affected by the cold. She wore several jumpers as she started the round. She shed them one by one as she warmed up. Miss Wragg seemed comparatively unaffected.
